

SEXUALITY STUDIES ASSOCIATION

5th annual meeting

Congress of the Humanities and Social Sciences
Ryerson University
May 27-29, 2017

Land Recognition

The Sexuality Studies Association acknowledges that the land on which we gather is the traditional territory of the Haudenosaunee (h oh - D EE - n oh - SH oh - n ee), and most recently, the territory of the Mississaugas (m ih - s ih - s aw - g uh) of the New Credit First Nation. The territory was the subject of the Dish With One Spoon Wampum Belt Covenant, an agreement between the Iroquois Confederacy and the Ojibwe and allied nations to peaceably share and care for the resources around the Great Lakes. This territory is also covered by the Upper Canada Treaties. Today, the meeting place of Toronto (from the Haudenosaunee word Tkaronto) is still the home to many Indigenous People from across Turtle Island and we are grateful to have the opportunity to work in the community, on this territory.

L'Association d'études de la sexualité commence en soulignant que les terres sur lesquelles nous sommes réunis font partie du territoire traditionnel des Premières Nations des HuronsWendats et des Pétuns, des Sénécas et, plus récemment, des Mississaugas de la rivière Credit. Le territoire faisait l'objet du traité de la ceinture wampum faisant référence au concept du "bol à une seule cuillère", entente entre la Confédération iroquoise et les Ojibwés et nations alliées convenant de partager et préserver pacifiquement les ressources sur tout le pourtour des Grands Lacs. Ce territoire est également visé par les traités du Haut-Canada. Aujourd'hui, le lieu de rassemblement de Toronto est encore l'endroit où habitent de nombreux Autochtones de l'Île aux tortues et nous sommes reconnaissants d'avoir l'occasion de travailler au sein de la communauté sur ce territoire.

Neoliberal futures, cultural backlashes, and the politics of sex classification

Until the last decades of the twentieth century, state enforcement of M/F sex binary had little to do with what we now call transgender people. Sex classification operated as a legal instrument that worked in concert with cultural norms to subordinate women. As states slowly retreated from sponsoring the subordination of women, it became possible for sex reclassification policies to change to recognize the gender of trans people. But in the current moment the M/F issue is transforming into a different kind of political instrument. Social conservatives are weaponizing the sex classification issue while big business celebrates gender diversity of all kinds.

John Greyson

Once is Not Enough: Repetition in Sex, Activism and Opera

Why say it twice? The incessant repetition of a lyric phrase (spoken or sung) has been a foundational touchstone of operatic creation, activist mobilizing and sexual passion across cultures and millennia. Freud identified incessant repetition as the ‘repetition compulsion’, focusing on our repressed need to name what is unheimlich (un-secret) again and again, with unheimlich elaborating that paradox of repression and expression (the ‘undecidable’ in Derrida’s sense) that engages the uncanny. However, artists and activists as diverse as DV8, Glass, Beyonce, Lepage, Cork/Blythe, Saga Collectif, and Steyerl all employ lyrical repetition in their operatic spectacles of sex, bodies and social change in ways which exceed this prison yard of the unconscious. In this keynote event, varied recurring and repetitive examples from opera, activism and sex will be rehearsed in relation to examples from Greyson’s recent digital films, Fig Trees, Last Car Jericho and Towel.

Pourquoi repeter ? La repetition d’une phrase lyrique (dite ou chantee) a ete la pierre de touche de la creation operatique, de la mobilisation militante et de la passion sexuelle a travers les cultures et les siecles. Freud associe la repetition incessante a la « compulsion de repetition », en focalisant sur notre desir reprime de nommer ce qui est unheimlich (le non-familier) encore et encore, l’unheimlich jouant le paradoxe de l’expression et de la repression (l’indecidable derridien) qui est au coeur de cette inquietante etrangete/familiarite. Toutefois, des artistes et des activistes aussi differents que DV8, Glass, Beyonce, Lepage, Cork/Blythe, Sagal Collectif, and Steyerl emploient la repetition lyrique dans leurs performances operatiques du sexe, des coprs et du changement social, de maniere a transcender les murs de prisons de notre inconscient. Cette conference, divers types de repetitions, varies et recurrents, tires de l’opera, de l’activisme et de la sexualite seront presentees en lien avec des exemples tires des recents films numeriques de Greyson, Fig Trees, Last Car Jericho et Towel.
